A journey to ephemeral in-situ installations, screenings, encounters.

EPITOPOU 17 – presentation of the 4th year

The year 2017 illustrates the beginning of the twice-a-year implementation of EPITOPOU.

In an era where new diverging lines are created, both geographical and spiritual, the island of Andros is not defined by strict geographical and cultural barriers, but as a piece of the broader district of Europe and the Mediterranean.

For the year of 2017, we invite artists that possess a broader experiential feel for the island, a feel that inspires, mirrors and even constitutes their work. These are artists that live and work in between two countries, two cultures, artists used to the “in-between”. Their work will expand and enrich their collective artistic experience but also the experience of every inhabitant as a viewer-receiver as well as a collaborator. We move on with creators of a different social and cultural background that gather together in nature and share with the people of the island, moments of freedom.
